

Kellen appoints three new consultants

KELLEN Europe has expanded its staff in Brussels, hiring Michel Baumgartner, Pierre Conrath and Silvia Vaghi.

Baumgartner was appointed to support the activities of the International Federation of Exhibition and Event Services (IFES) and the Hydrogen and Fuel Cells Technology Platform

Baumgartner started his career in the European Community of Consumer Cooperatives and previously worked for a consultancy specialising in food and environment issues.

Conrath handles EU affairs management activities for Eurobat (European industrial and automotive battery manufacturers) and will take up a consultant position for IELA (International Exhibition Logistics Associates). He worked as a public affairs consultant in Brussels before joining Kellen.

BAUMGARTNER

Vaghi will lead the project for the European Hydrogen and Fuel Cells Technology platform. During the Italian EU presidency she was a policy adviser on environment and energy issues, and her latest assignment was in Paris as Associate Programme Officer for the UN Environmental Programme.

VAGHI: Ex-UN